● CLASS ORATION    A CHALLENGE — By Joseph Flaherty

In considering the various aspects of the present European war, one may naturally ask, "Well, what has it all to do with me? How is it likely to affect the U. S.?" The average American does not see in the present struggle an imminent threat to democracy. When our country entered the First World War, we thought that our soldiers were fighting to make the world safe for democracy; the events of the past few years have proved how wrong we were. The result in Europe has been the destruction of democratic governments like our own in countries where the people had an ideal, a desire for a better life, for self-government, but, worn out by years of poverty and distress, they welcomed any change, even dictatorship. Despite this fact, it remains that whatever the outcome of the conflict, there is sure to be a resulting chaos which will affect our nation, to the point where the freedom of the individual will be imperilled. Its defense rests on us.

Time passes quickly and brings with each age many new conceptions of human betterment, some good, others necessarily evil. It is difficult to distinguish between the two, for oftentimes they resemble each other so closely that to separate one from the other requires discriminating thought, but it is easier not to think. The present period leads one to the belief that today, more than ever before, we live in a complex world. The necessity of evaluation of ideas is paramount; its place in modern life must never be minimized. The tendency toward the unreasoning acceptance of statements is our deepest pitfall; we are all too prone to nod yes to every statement made authoritatively on the radio, or to accept the policy of a political party, without thought or consideration; in time this inertia may sound the death-knell of democracy. In achieving the present high standard of living, Americans have sacrificed many things, among them the habit of individual thinking. In focusing our attention on our immediate concerns, we fail to recognize the significance of seemingly unimportant events, which, given time to mature, may strangle our culture and destroy our very livelihood.

There has sprung up in our country a group of self-appointed reformers, professional patriots, who consider it their sacred duty to save America from itself. That they may accomplish this noble end, they gird up their loins in the stars and stripes, conceal their bigotry and ignorance in a flow of patriotic verbiage, and parade the land with shouts of "America for Americans." Their weapons are name-calling and the glittering generality, their targets those who realize and assert that America is not perfect. These misguided zealots jump to the conclusion that anyone seen in conversation with a believer in these sinister panaceas is himself connected with them. Decatur's sentiment, "Our country, right or wrong," is their Bible. Moreover, they think that the freedom of the Constitution is being used as a shield for subversive activity. To be sure, eternal vigilance is the price of democracy, but let us not confuse vigilance with blindness to our own shortcomings. Yet these organizations, in many cases where they considered themselves most patriotic in denying the rights of free speech and free press to certain alien groups or in disenfranchising the Negro, were surely as un-American as the very groups they persecuted. In their zeal, they have forgotten what follows the abrogation of the Bill of Rights; they have forgotten the examples of Germany and Russia. Let us not heed the cries of these American fuhrers and commissars; let us not expend our energy in persecuting these minority organizations which declare that America is decadent, but let us instead wipe out the causes of their cries; let us strive for the good of the working man, the ordinary citizen; for therein lies our hope. Let us exalt our country, but let us not exalt it blindly, for though it be the world's stronghold of Light and Truth; yet there are many dangerous injustices, insidious things, of which we must be aware.

Fifty years ago, James Bryce said that "the only conspicuous failure of American democracy was its municipal government." Had Bryce expanded his statement, he would, no doubt, have laid the blame for this corruption on the inertia of the individual citizen. According to Lincoln, ours is a government by, of, and for the People; yet it is these same people who will relinquish their sovereign rights at a word from the ward boss or a glittering generality made by some rabble-raiser. Although four years lie between most of the graduating class and the ballot-box, during that period we must be strengthening ourselves for the day when, as full enfranchised citizens, we mark our first ballot. In order to vote the more wisely, to benefit ourselves and our community, we must sense two most important points: the importance of the vote, and the acceptance of its responsibilities. The least citizen of this land has within his grasp the vote—a power that raises him to the level of the greatest captain of industry or the most brilliant statesman. No man can take it from him unless he so wills it; with it he is able to benefit himself and his fellow-man; without it he is nothing. Therefore, in this intervening time, we must realize that we whose destiny is to be shaped by the fate of this nation are ourselves responsible for its course.

Periodically critical articles on the state of youth today appear, are widely discussed, and disappear, to be followed closely by others of the same nature. They are divided roughly into two groups: those deploring the ethical state of youth and those deploring youthful shiftlessness and irresponsibility. The first, I believe, we can dismiss; the same thing has been said ever since the days of imperial Rome; it is the second we must not fail to consider. Few of us today have even the remotest conscious sense of actual civic responsibility or duty; true, we have been taught that on the shoulders of its youth will rest the fate of the nation, the fate of an ideal, democracy; but we have discarded these admonitions as the speech of a generation who have failed to make a better world themselves, and expect us to correct their mistakes. When anyone asks how we shall ever be able to manage the affairs of a nation when we refuse the anus of daily life, we answer, "It will all come with time." But we are mistaken; today we must steel ourselves for tomorrow's struggles; we must realize our responsibilities today in order to fulfill our duties tomorrow. We must not procrastinate; we must act, for today we lay the foundation of our lives. Let us remember that our city, our state, our nation are what we make them. We, as civic-minded citizens, must find what problems confront our government, and then be prepared to take an active part in finding an effective remedy for them.

Archibald MacLeish, in his "America Was Promises" asks the question "America is promises for whom?" The answer, so simple that it is a revelation, is "America is promises for those who take them." If we remember that, we cannot fail.

● CLASS HISTORY

These four years through which we have just passed were filled not only with much hard work and grave disappointments, but also with many well-earned achievements and a great deal of happiness. This is a graduating class of which we can rightfully be proud. Brockton High has been compared with other schools in scholarship, music, and athletics, and has never been found wanting.

The faculty of Brockton High has been altered considerably. The promotion of Mr. John L. Miller to superintendent of schools left the headmaster's position vacant. This was ably filled by Mr. Ruel E. Tucker. Upon the marriage of Miss Katherine French, of the domestic science department, Miss Doris M. Hathaway was appointed. Miss Rachel S. Pape, Miss Marita Cadeley, and Miss Margaret Robertson also resigned to be married. Mr. Wesley L. Merritt was named in the music department. Mr. Daniel Creedon was added to the commercial department, and Mr. Joseph Spang was elected head of the science department. Last June, because of the resignation of Dr. MacGregory, a man respected by everyone with whom he came in contact, Mr. William J. Montgomery and Mr. Ralph S. Frellick were given the positions of masters. At this point we should pause to pay tribute to Mr. Edward Bailey, former head of science department for many years, who passed away shortly after his resignation in 1938.

The class enrollment in September, 1936, was 982 pupils. The total number of pupils enrolled on May 1, 1940, was 698. This shows a decrease of 284. Although this may seem to be a large percentage, it is no more than can be expected from such a large class in four years.

There have been important changes in the curriculum offered by the school. The most popular addition, perhaps, is the driver training course with Mr. George F. Laing in charge. Next is the greatly increased interest in the music program of the school. Since the election of Mr. Wesley L. Merritt to the teaching staff, the band has shown great improvement. Both the boys' and girls' glee clubs, which were presented with moroon choir robes this year, have members who are talented. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. George Sawyer Dunham, has delightfully entertained the student body at many an assembly. There is also an increase in the music courses offered. Lastly, is the recently inaugurated part-time system in the commercial course. In this plan, the better pupils, with the consent of their parents, are placed in the offices throughout the school system, and thus get experience which should better qualify them for jobs after graduation.

Our athletes have brought many honors both to the school and to themselves. In our sophomore and senior years the football teams captured not only the Class A championship, but also the state title. Again in our junior year the football team was presented with the Class A title. The baseball team was put in the spotlight by winning the state championship in 1938. The hockey team, league champion in our sophomore year, has been greatly aided by the construction of a hockey rink on Eldon B. Keith Field. The cross-country team reaped its share of glory by hurdling to the New England championship in 1940. The golf team putted its way to the Southeastern Massachusetts championship last year. The track team's sprinting has won the Southeastern Massachusetts championship for the past three years.

The social functions of the class could not all be sponsored because of the closing of the hall last January. However, the senior class play, "The Bat," was highly successful. The "Pageant of the Nativity" has been presented for the past two years at Christmas time by the combined musical organizations of the school and the Dramatic Club. This year the presentation was made public for the first time. As Juniors we had a most enjoyable time at the joint Junior-Senior social.

In conclusion, we wish to extend our hearty thanks to the members of the whole teaching force. Our teachers have helped to make our sojourn here at Brockton High both educational and pleasant.

● CLASS POEM      By Shirley Tevlin

High on wind-swept hills we've stood
Beneath the sun, no cares, no fear;
Had not to run, shed not a tear,
And viewed the years ahead as good.
We now move down through tall, green grass
Feet so swift and hearts so free,
Eyes which, wide, yet cannot see
What the future holds. Alas!
We come upon the dirt and rock,
Trip and fall upon our knee.
We pray to God that we may see,
And in our hearts the pain we lack.
Black clouds above make dim our way,
But in the darkness we shall know
There is a place where no winds blow,
Where golden sun shall bring new day.

CLASS ODE

Music by Rodney D. Burgess

Words by Rita Patry

No more our feet shall tread these halls,
Nor our voices rise in song;
No more in classrooms shall we meet
A gay and happy thrang.

Our time has come, when lessons done
We leave our schoolday play,
But anon we all shall meet again
In the light of a heavenly day.

We'll glance not back, but look ahead,
In our hearts shall rest no fear,
But rather trusting in His name,
To shining parts we'll steer.

And when youth's roses shall decay
And burnished locks be white,
We still will cheer our souls with spring
And face into the light!

● FOOTBALL

Featuring a fast-running offense coupled with a stone-wall defense, the 1940 football team captured the Class A state championship title. The backfield, including Captain Billy Gold, Bernie Lanoue, Art Kashgagian, and John Tamulevicz, ran wild behind one of the strongest lines ever seen in high school football, so the Red and Black had little difficulty in running up 278 points to 21 for the opposition.

In the season opener with Worcester Trade, the team gained due revenge for their last year's setback. Philly O'Connell's team was drubbed to the tune of 26 to 0. The first real opposition of the season was provided by Medford, and the Shoe City boys, having one of those off-days, were forced to be satisfied with a 7-7 count. At Manchester, the Red and Black probably played their best game of the season. The undefeated, unscored-upon New Hampshire champs suffered a 16-0 reverse. Somerville and Rogers were slaughtered, 21-0 and 34-0 respectively. Finally, to end the season as it began, the B. H. S. champs repaid Waltham's 7-7 tie of last year by a smashing victory of 47-0.

● CROSS COUNTRY

With a record of nine wins and no losses, the Brockton High harriers successfully defended their state championship laurels and also added the New England crown to their belts. The hill and dolers, led by Captain George Sites and coached by Charles Reed, not only were undefeated but successfully piled up seven perfect fifteen scores against teams like Weymouth, Cranston, North Quincy, Quincy, Worcester Commerce, Arlington, and Melrose. In capturing their initial New England Inter. championship, the team displayed fine running, with Captain-elect Alden Lone landing a high fifth. The eight regular runners of the team included Captain George Sites, Preston Ultcht, Carlton Bricknell, Frank Murphy, Alden Lone, Jr., Alfred Pochowsky, George Longill, and Joseph MacDonald. Algird Germon was the manager for the team. The boys were all justly rewarded with championship sweaters and were given jackets as a bonus for their exceptional work.

Failing to gain a Tech Tourney bid this year, the Staff-coached quintette closed a fairly successful season by winning eight games and losing a like number. The 1939-40 outfit started off in a manner reminiscent of B. H. S. champions of the past but bogged down badly in the middle of the campaign. Winning their first four games of the schedule, the team looked the part of champions. Then out of the next twelve games the Red and Black could win only four. The greatest accomplishment of the team was to defeat Chelsea, which was seeking its eleventh successive victory, by a score of 28-17.

The team lineup included Tullie Columbo and Merton Sawtell at the forwards, Captain Jake Dodero at center, and Broni Kelley and Al Piscuskas at the guards. Among the reserves were Earl Erickson, Bob Carter, Bob Slocum, Dick Tarlow, Harry Pierson, and Al Bilunas. The team's managing was handled by James Corcoran.

● SWIMMING

With a season's record of three wins and three losses, the 1940 swimming team closed its current campaign handicapped earlier in the season by the loss of Captain Harold Sweeney, because of appendicitis, the natators put up a game fight, garnering a second in the New England Interscholastic Meet. Recovering sufficiently to swim, Captain Sweeney entered the Interscholastics and won the 50-yd. free style swim against a strong field. Jerry Radenbush placed first in the 100-yd backstroke, setting a new B. H. S. record of 1 minute,  $7\frac{3}{5}$  seconds. Champ Noonan repeated his last year's performance by capturing the diving honors. Interesting to note is the fact that the team took three out of the six available championship awards. The lettermen included George Sites, Captain Harold Sweeney, John Noonan, Jerry Radenbush, Gordon Cranford, Fred Prescott, Bob Murphy, Richard Hollander, Richard Peck and John Gillis.

● HOCKEY

Severely handicapped by a lack of facilities for practice throughout the season, the B. H. S. pucksters ended the current campaign with a record of two wins, two ties, and six losses. Interesting is the fact that the six losses were suffered in the first six games of the season, after which the team secured the use of a Rondolph rink for practice sessions. "Practice makes perfect"—and so it did. The team tied the next two games and came through to win the final two tilts of the season.

Coach Carl McPherson's first line was made up of Captain Paulding, John Hamilton, and James Hatch (captain-elect). A second line of Harold Bowden, Ray Johnson, and Irving Hunt did yeoman work in relieving the first line. Courtney Simpson and Lorne Callow formed a hard-hitting defense unit with Maynard Hill doing the relief work. Last, but not least, Bob Reardon was king of the nets.

● TRACK

Coach Charles Reed's track team, although not making too impressive showing on the boards, started the cinder season with a 55½ to 39½ decision against the Quincy Blue and White.

Presenting a well-balanced crew at the time of writing, the tracksters featured power in the distant running events and in the tossing field events. Brawny Jahn Tamulevicz held the spotlight at the start of the campaign, registering a 47 ft. 8 in. heave in the shot put event for a new all-time Brockton High School record. Bill Pierce was key man in the dashes. Al Pochawsky featured all season in the 600 yd. run, for which he holds the state indoor title. The longer distance runs, handled by members of this year's brilliant cross-country team, had Carleton Bricknell, Preston Ultcht, George Langill, and Alden Lone on the roster. Melvin Pearson and George Stedman ran the hurdles, while Billy Gald and John Tamulevicz threw the javelin and shot put.

● BASEBALL

At the time of writing, prospects for a Fenway Park invitation and probably a state title looked bright for the 1940 baseball nine.

Coach Halden was gifted with a quartette of better-than-average hurlers. The maundsmen were Ray Jahnsan, Milt Allerby, Narm Balinder, and Tammy Clinton. The infield proved to be the invulnerable part of the team. Co-captain Bob Riardan was converted into a initial sacker, with Chuck Piesca at the keystone sack and Vinnie Calumbo at the hot corner. Jack Killary played the short-stop position, rounding out a fast and experienced infield. Backstop duty and timely hitting were the job of Co-captain Pot Lessard. The outfield combined speed with sure-fire arms in cutting enemy hits to the minimum. Tullie Calumba played left field, with Al Paskus at center; one of the idle pitchers alternated in right field.

● GOLF

Leading the Southeastern Massachusetts Interscholastic Golf League by virtue of their three successive victories over New Bedford Vocational, Dartmouth and Barnstable, the Brockton High School golfers looked the part of champions at the time of writing of this article.

Captain Billy Anthony and Butch Bailey paired for Brackton's number one twosome. Captain Anthony was outstanding all season, hitting in the 70's consistently. Coach Matthew Nicoll's second duo of Bob English and Bill Buckley spelled trouble for B. H. S. opponents. They scored a best-ball count against both Dartmouth and Barnstable. Dick Tarlaw and Frank Murphy formed the third twosome. Two newcomers to B. H. S. golf gave the latter pair a run for their money. These boys, Dick Roan and Al Hurley, played in some of the earlier games of the campaign. The prospects for another fine team next year seem bright, Coach Nicoll's lasses will be Bob English, Dick Tarlaw, and Frank Murphy, all of whom will graduate this semester.

● TENNIS

After practicing daily on the new asphalt courts at Parmenter's, the Brockton High School netmen, under the careful tutelage of Coach Wigren, showed considerable progress as the campaign got under way.

Number one man on the squad was Captain Millet, the only veteran letterman up from last year's team. Numbers two and three men respectively were Bill Tyrell and Dick Hallander. Charlie Socarides, Jud Churchill, Pattangall, and Stedman rounded out the young but well-balanced team. Coach Wigren keenly felt the loss of Bob Clark, whom he had paired with Captain Millet for Brockton's doubles duo. Bob became over age one month before the start of the season. The racketmen played a schedule of some ten matches including such teams as Norwood, Hingham, Milton, North Quincy, Quincy, and participated in the state meet at Winchester. Home matches were played on the Parmenter asphalt courts and on the Walk-Over clay courts.

● GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Screeches, screams, and yells characterized the annual feminine turnout for intra-mural basketball this year, transforming the girls' gym into a bedlam of leaping ladies. In the final senior class series, Team 3, made up of Virginia Evans, Jean Frellick, Potricia Halbrook, and Marilyn Crowell, captured the class laurels.

The week before the end of the current hoop season was devoted to the inter-class playoffs. Contrary to expectations, the juniors came out on top of the pile, successfully defeating the seniors in a closely contested affair. The junior inter-class champions include Mary Baker, Ruth Lorson, Bernice Clifford, Ruth King, Georgia Leontos, Thalia Holmes, Louise McArthur, Mildred Anderson, Jane Lange, and Dorothy Curley.

The goal of these athletic Athenas is to win the coveted sweatshirts and B's by receiving a total of 100 points in their various athletic activities. Seniors who won these awards were Alice Bulman, Barbara Doherty, Virginia Evans, Claire Ferguson, Jean Frellick, Ellen Suslom, Shirley Gammons, Natalie Hall, Mary Campian, and Marilyn Crowell.

● YEARBOOK STAFF

Under the direction of Mr. Edmund Pilla and Co-editors Priscilla Moore and Theadara Long, the Yearbook Staff proceeded to write, sift, and rewrite material in order to produce a satisfactory Yearbook.

It wasn't all writing for the staff, by any means, for the business end had to do much of the clerical work in the arrangement of the pictures and the procuring of advertisements. A great deal of time was spent in arranging student autobiographies and making the Yearbook as interesting as possible.

● CLASS OF 1941

The junior class of Brockton High School was duly organized, the following officers being elected: Wilfred E. Gassett, president; Dorothy M. Curley, vice-president; Nancy T. Simmons, secretary; Norman W. Bolinder, treasurer; and executive committee: Barbara Buckley, Barbara Mullins, Nancy Stoll, Michael Bibbo, and Dominic Bibbo.

Each junior room appointed a delegate to the class gift committee, which decided upon the gift to be presented to the school by the class.

The class treasury already contains over $800. With such a substantial sum already on hand, the class hopes to be able to follow the precedent established by the Class of 1940 of obtaining the Yearbook without additional charge.

Fifty-two junior boys and girls were selected from the various courses to serve as ushers during commencement week.

Miss Marie Daley served as the class adviser.

● CLASS OF 1942

The Class of 1942 had an opportunity to enjoy several interesting and educational assemblies. Among them were a musical entertainment featuring a banjo player and a pianist, a motion picture on safety driving, and helpful talks by Mr. Ruel E. Tucker, the headmaster.

The class organized later than usual, because it was felt that members should become acquainted with one another first. On March 13, class elections were held, with the following officers being elected: president, Robert M. Hayward; vice-president, Ruth M. Connell; secretary, I. Faye Dwyer; treasurer, Norman L. Cranford, executive committee: Ruth A. Bassett, David A. Judge, Donald Kingman, P. Allen Reed, and Audrey J. White.

The dues collectors worked hard to accumulate a large sum in the treasury. Miss B. Elizabeth Elzbut served as adviser to the class.

● GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club completed the year with many accomplishments to its credit.

Together with the Male Chorus and Dramatic Club the club presented the impressive Christmas Pageant "Venite Adoremus" to the public for the first time. The year of 1939-40 also marked the debut of the Glee Club before various local groups including the D. A. R. and Woman's Club, and also in the Mayflower Festival at Morshfield and the State Music Festival at Wellesley. Because of the closing of the auditorium, the production of the Gilbert & Sullivan operetta "The Gondoliers" was regretfully cancelled. To take its place the club participated in four concerts given to the junior high schools of the city. Director of music for the Glee Club was Mr. George S. Dunham, assisted by Mr. Wesley S. Merritt.

Officers for the year were president, Evelyn Celia; vice-president, Barbara Doniels; secretary, Rita Fish; treasurer, Shirley Dunbar; scribe, Marion Champ; pianist, Phyllis Palmer; and adviser, Miss Edith D. Sprague.

● MALE CHORUS

The Brockton High School Male Chorus, under the able direction of Mrs. Nellie W. Shaw, continued during the past season to maintain its usual high standard of musical work. The chorus sang at several assemblies through the year in the High School and the junior high schools. Because of its large repertoire, beautiful harmony, and co-ordination, the chorus won favor with many civic organizations of the city. The highlight of the season, however, was the Christmas pageant, which was put on in collaboration with the Girls' Glee Club.

In May, the chorus participated in a series of four programs presented to junior high schools in the city.

The year was completed by singing in the Mayflower Festival at Marshfield.

Club officers included Richard Carr, president; Rodney Burgess, vice-president; LeRay Fraeberg, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Phyllis Palmer, accompanist.

● BAND

The Band, under the direction of Wesley Merritt, was well received by the student body and general public alike.

The boys increased attendance at every athletic game they graced. At the basketball games the members demonstrated the personality and versatility of the band in such stirring stunt numbers as "Every Man for Himself" and the "Sky Rocket March," which gave the spectators a chance to take part.

During the winter months the band devoted its time to concert music to be played in the spring.

The officers who gave their able assistance to the band this year were as follows: student leader, James Raspa; drum major, William O'Brien; vice-president, Earle Soule; manager, Richard Mann.

● ORCHESTRA

The Brockton High School Orchestra had a successful year under the capable directorship of Mr. George Sawyer Dunham.

The orchestra played at most of the opening exercises of the weekly assemblies under the leadership of Mr. Wesley Merritt. It furnished entertainment at the class play, and sent representatives to the state conference which was held in Boston, March 14-16. Those who attended the conference were Marilyn Swartz, Helen Meade, and Thomas Norris. A local carpenter visited one of the rehearsals and brought two violins which he had made. These violins were played by the orchestra violinists and found to be very well made. The orchestra had a large repertoire, including Haydn's "Surprise Symphony" and "On the Trail" by Ferde Grofe.

The officers were Marilyn Swartz, concert mistress; Elinor Kotz, secretary; Shirley Holper, treasurer; and Harold Seor, librarian.

● DRAMATIC CLUB

Presided over by Rodney Burgess, the Dramatic Club activities proved to be very successful. The other officers of the club included vice-president, Marjorie Gennaco; secretary, Frances Lawrence; treasurer, Edwin Mickevicz; and executive committee, Mary Pitaro, Bernodine Fine, Priscilla Moore, Dorothy Curley, Modeline McCarthy, and Richard Hollander. At the Book Fair the members of the club presented the play "Not So Dead." They also assisted in the presentation of the Christmas Pageant. Programs for some of the meetings were a discussion of the famous actress, Katherine Cornell, a party and dancing in the girls' gymnasium, and a luncheon served by Miss Allison in the school cafeteria. A valentine party was held at which valentines were exchanged.

"The Kleptomaniac" was featured at the March meeting of the club, and "The Fourteenth Guest" at the April meeting.

The club advisers were Miss Ruth Stokes and Miss Catherine Tuttle.

● BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION CLUB

Organized in 1920, the Business Administration Club made great progress in its effort to enable its fifty members (limited membership) to become acquainted with business. The program of the club was planned to include visits to offices and business houses, and lectures by Miss Marjorie Burns on "She Strives to Conquer," and Mr. Stephen Cote on "Cosmetics for the Business Girl." An outstanding achievement of the club was to make additions to the scholarship loan fund.

A successful and eventful year closed with the annual club picnic at D. W. Field Park. The officers were Pauline Hayes, president; Evelyn Ahearn, vice-president; Bernice Warren, secretary; Dorothy Hartford, treasurer; senior directors: Marguerite Hobson, Mary DiStefano, Madelyn Jackson; junior directors: Ruth Erickson and Ethel Cohen.

The adviser, Miss Anna M. Dostal, supervised all activities.

● STUDENT ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student Advisory Council was first organized in 1935 under the supervision of Mr. John L. Miller. Its purpose is to interpret the policies of the administration for the student body and the ideas of the student body for the administration.

During the past year the members of the Student Advisory Council discussed methods of improving the school. Among subjects treated were the lunch room, passing between classes, length of periods, afternoon dances, and appropriate dress for school. The main project of the spring was to interest the pupils in the improvement of the school grounds, including the planting of flowers and shrubbery. Mr. Roberts was of great assistance in this project.

The officers of the council were president, David Libby; vice-president, Violet Anderson; treasurer, Raymond Motinson; executive committee: seniors, Mildred Milloy, Mildred Williams; juniors, Mary Kent, Wendell Warren; sophomores, William Pechilis, Elizabeth Starkey. Faculty advisers were Headmaster Ruel E. Tucker, Deon Bernice Sylvester, Miss Pauline Hoyt, Miss Marie Doley, and Miss B. Elizabeth Elzbut.

● SEWING CLUB

The Sewing Club was started in 1925 by Miss Ruth Gowers, who is now Mrs. Kenneth Wakefield. The object of this club is to train girls to spend their leisure time in a useful way by learning more about sewing, entertaining, and personality.

Many pretty gifts were made by the members. Other activities were a Penny Sale and a Traveling Cake Sale. Parties were held on various occasions, a hiking get-together at Miss Hathaway's home being a highlight. Miss Burns gave an interesting lecture on books in the library dealing with personality. Mr. Cote gave a speech on cosmetics. Work was done for the Red Cross.

The club was under the supervision of Miss Doris Hathaway, and conducted by the following officers: president, Marian Woodworth; vice-president, Dorothy Johnson; secretary, Florence Soule, treasurer, Shirley Caldwell; and publicity agent, Hazel Burbank.

● BROCKTONIA

Brocktonio in 1939-40 was a better, if not bigger, paper than last year. Proof of this statement is the fact that it was awarded Class A rating by the National Scholastic Press Association for the first time in several years.

Chief among the features of the year were two letters from Brunhilde Pfeiffer telling of her experience in the war area, a special Book Week issue published November 9, a reader-interest questionnaire in December, a multi-cut of current B. H. S. shining lights "back in the dear dead days beyond recall," and several interviews with current celebrities.

New columns were "Aunt Hepzibah" and "Prominent Profiles." The former contains cleverly-turned answers to questions of general interest, and the latter runs to short biographies of famous B. H. S'ers.

The staff for the year was headed by Editor-in-chief Theodora Long, Assistant Editor Herbert Murray, Business Manager Richard Tarlaw, and Sports Editor Thomas Hatzis. Mr. Stephen Cote and Mr. Edmund Pillo were advisers.

● LIBRARY MONITORS' CLUB

The Library Monitors' Club was founded in November of 1935 for pupils from the staff of the school library.

Among the highlights on the program of the past year were a talk on book dedications by Mr. Wilson, an acquaintance party for the new sophomore monitors, and a lecture on new methods in art, illustrated by drawings, given by Miss Marion Dunham, the art supervisor of the Brockton schools. The club was entertained by the Whitman High School Literary Club on February 29.

The greatest accomplishment of the club was a handbook called "Here's How" compiled by the members containing instructions about working in the library.

The officers were president, Bette Dodge; vice-president, Isadore Gold; secretary, Elizabeth Belcher; treasurer, Carolyn Dean; executive committee, Marilyn Gay, Bernadine Fine, Anita Chartier, and Francis Kelleher; the club adviser was Miss Marjorie W. Burns, school librarian.

● CLASS PLAY

On December 8, 1939, another class play hit the boards. This time the vehicle was Mary Roberts Rinehart's murder-mystery, "The Bat."

"The Bat" was a peaceful little play seething with mustache-pulling villains (Charlie Sacarides), swooning maidens (Natalie Packard), handsome heroes rushing to the rescue (Bob Murphy), disappearing mystery men (Dan Campbell), and corpses (Allan Eaton). The lead was played by Katherine Smith, eccentric old dowager to whom life was just a bowl of hysterical servants (Bette Dodge and Benjamin Osharaw). Frank Murphy blustered through the maze of mystery in the title role; Joe Flaherty exuded boredom and sophistication as Fleming; Arthur Oppenheim, ditto, as Reginald Beresford.

Miss Ruth Stakes and Miss Grace Studley produced the thriller; Mr. Steve Cate was responsible for the bat flying across the French windows, aided by Mr. Swanson, who created the thunder storm.

Classic line: Lizzie (in attic): "I'd crawl down a rat hole if there was one." P. S.—She meant it, too.

● CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The Colorful Christmas Pageant "Venite Adaremus" was presented in the B. H. S. assembly hall on December 17 and 18, with scenes of the first Christmas and songs of the angels.

Strains of the "Pastoral Symphony" from the "Messiah" provided an appropriate background for the pageant itself, while a choir, composed of the Girls' Glee Club and the Male Chorus, filed into the darkened hall singing "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The vivid tableaux, presented by members of the Dramatic Club, were made particularly effective through the musical accompaniment. Kenneth Ryder read the Christmas story of each tableau.

The final tableau and the recessional of the choir, singing "Joy to the World," left the audience imbued with the atmosphere and significance of the season.

● RIFLE CLUB

The Rifle Club held its meetings and practices at the well-equipped range in the A building. The activities of the club were delayed because of transfer of Ronald F. Holt, the adviser, to another school. In spite of the delay the club finally started its activities with John Egger as adviser. The scores shot up, and the average for matches was about 472 out of a possible 500 points. A high spot of the year was a perfect score of 50 made by Robert Cook. An average of twenty-three boys attended each of the regular Wednesday meetings. Matches were held with Quincy, North Quincy, Brintree, Norwood; a pistol match was held with Haverhill. The club enjoyed a turkey shoot in the spring.

With Everett Britton as president, Warren Appleton as vice-president, Edward Knowles as secretary, Joseph Flaherty as treasurer, Robert Cook as range master, the club had a very successful year.

● DEBATING CLUB

A group of diligent pupils re-established the activity of the Brockton High School Congress under the name of the Debating Club.

The adviser, Mr. Harry Ball, instructed the members on the principles of debating, and during the bi-monthly meetings, he offered instructive criticisms after each debate. The members participated in debates on current questions: Should Presidents of the United States be allowed to run for a third term? Should U. S. merchants be allowed to re-register boats under foreign flags to escape neutrality laws? Should the Panama Canal be opened to belligerents? Is a democratic government better than a dictatorship? Should refugees be admitted to the U. S. in excess of the quota?

The officers of the club were Joseph Flaherty, president; Jane Manthorne, vice-president; Lillian Chaskes, secretary; and Marilyn Lays, treasurer.

● HISTORY CLUB

Since Kenrick Baker and Dante DiCicco organized it back in 1937, the infant History Club has been demanding recognition among the older school groups. As a result it was received into the ranks this year as a certified club. Through speeches given by the members, discussions on problems of history, and question bees on various countries, the club became better acquainted with the past and present civilizations of Egypt, China, Greece, and other foreign countries. There were also talks on radio commentators, paranoics in history, and war in America. The club relied for much of its material for programs on "Inside Asia," Magruder's "International Relationships," "The Scientific American," and "The American Newsweek."

A costume party was held for the members at Hallowe'en, and also at Christmas time.

The officers of the club were president, Charles Crain; vice-president, Lee Wigren; secretary, Jane Manthorne; treasurer, Patricia Eldridge; executive committee, Kenrick Baker and Kenneth Ryder. Miss Lydia Gibbs was the club adviser.
